Message from Monsignor Grams

What is mercy? Misericordia, the Latin word for mercy, comes from miserere (pity or misery) and cor (heart) – a heart that is in misery. Fr. James Keinen describes mercy as "entering the chaos of other people's lives (especially the poor and sick)." Mercy helps us to identify the people in our communities who are suffering. Our response to them is required and tied to our salvation: "Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these, you did it to me" (Mt 25:40).

"Everyone reading this article is capable of accepting and sharing mercy."

What does everyday mercy look like? I have observed parishioners showing mercy throughout the five parishes in the Holy Cross AFC and beyond. I see and hear about anonymous gifts that are dropped off at the parish for people in need. In person and on social media I have observed young students standing up for other students at school, on the bus and in social interactions. I am aware of students' lunch accounts and school tuition plans that are partially or totally funded by others. I see family members and friends who are more sure-footed bringing loved ones safely to Mass on weekends.

As you move through your day, do you recognize people accepting and showing mercy? Do you see yourself receiving and showing mercy? Are there people in your life who would benefit from your forgiveness? "If you forgive the sins of others, your Father in heaven will also forgive your sins" (Mt 6:14). "…let each one be merciful and forgiving to his brother" (Zech. 7:9). Everyone reading this article is capable of accepting and sharing mercy. Now that one quarter of the Year of Mercy is complete, we need to ask ourselves how we are doing.

Personally, I strive to treat people with dignity when they come to the door for financial assistance – often at the busiest time of the day. My initial response at times is far from merciful, but by the time I get to the door and greet the person, I see a child of God and not merely a source of interruption.

Let us strive to become more merciful – not simply for the remaining months of this Year of Mercy, but throughout our earthly journey.

Mission Week Schedule:

Catholics have a language of mystery that involves signs and symbols. For Catholics, the seven sacraments are the key signs and symbols through which we encounter Jesus Christ.

Sunday
Sacrament of Baptism and Confirmation
Symbol: Water and Oil
In Baptism we receive new life in Christ. Confirmation seals our life of faith in Jesus.

Monday
Sacrament of Matrimony and Holy Orders
Symbol: Cross
The Spirit brings us together in one vocation but different lifestyles.

Tuesday
Sacrament of Reconciliation and Sacrament of the Sick (Forgiveness and Healing)
Symbol: Ashes
In Penance we receive God's forgiveness. Anointing of the Sick unites a sick person's suffering with that of Jesus and brings forgiveness of sins.

Wednesday
Sacrament of the Eucharist
Symbol: Bread, Wine, and Treasure
Eucharist nourishes our life of faith.

NET Ministries' Joe Roueche Speaks to Local Youth and Parents

By Sarah Gillis

The Holy Cross Area Faith Community, in cooperation with New Ulm Area Catholic Schools, welcomed Joe Roueche from NET ministries on January 20th. For the past 20 years Joe has been a speaker and educator to young people, adults and catechists, challenging them to live out their Catholic faith with passion.

Joe presented "You can't Inspire without the Fire" to approximately 200 youth, parents and catechists. He shared his own struggles with his faith during his teen years and how, after entrusting his life to God, was never the same. With an enthusiasm that most of us in our middle age no longer possess, Joe spoke to the group from his heart as he shared personal stories that made us laugh and tugged at our hearts. He reminded us that are all called to "Inspire with the Fire." He used 'fire' as an acronym for:

F: FAITH Find your faith, develop a personal relationship with God-in your intellect and your heart.

I: INVITATION to encounter. Jesus is inviting us into relationship with him, and it starts at our baptism. We just need to be open to him!

R: RESTORE and REMAIN. Jesus came so that we could be restored each day. This happens by receiving the sacraments of Reconciliation and Holy Eucharist, and through prayer and scripture study.

E: ENERGY, ENTHUSIASM and EXCITEMENT When we are full of F-I-R, we will only want to share our love of God with others. Enthusiasm is derived from the Greek word meaning "Full of God." Who doesn't want that?!

The evening's talk was an invitation to open our hearts and let the Holy Spirit work in us so we can experience God's love, have a life that is transformed and be ready for the mission God calls each of us to do.

Joe's presentation was well-received by both the youth and adults in attendance. One parent in attendance commented, "We need more of this. His talk applies to all of us!"

Joe Rouche is the director of the Lifeline program, which offers monthly Mass with praise and worship music. Our Holy Cross Area Faith Community Youth Ministry program will be taking a bus to the April 2nd Lifeline Mass. Please contact amberyouthministry@yahoo.com if you are interested in attending, or are in need of further information.

If you are interested in learning more about Joe Roueche and his work at NET ministries, please contact Joe at joer@netusa.org

Thank you again to the Holy Cross Area Faith Community for sponsoring this event!

Seven Deadly Sins and Seven Lively Virtues

Over 100 people in our AFC and beyond took part in an engaging adult study DVD series by Bishop Robert Barron on the "Seven Deadly Sins and Seven Lively Virtues." Bishop Barron frames his presentation on the seven deadly sins following the seven levels of Mount Purgatory from the Divine Comedy by the 15th century poet Dante.

Based on Dante's writings, the seven deadly sins correspond to the seven levels of Dante's Mt. Purgatory. Pride, envy, anger, sloth, avarice, gluttony and lust are all presented as patterns of dysfunction within us that lead to unhappiness.

Bishop Barron then shows us how to counteract these seven sinful patterns through a conscious process of opposition, which are the "seven lively virtues." The seven lively virtues (humility, admiration, forgiveness, zeal, generosity, asceticism and chastity) offer antidotes to each sin and help set us on the right path to healing and happiness.

Some participant's comments:

- I learned there are different levels of the deadly sins, but that they are still all deadly.
- I have gained a deep appreciation for myself being created and loved into existence. Because of this reality, I am aware that I am sinful, and God is always calling me to conversion, to replace the deadly sins with virtue.
- A consciousness and insights as to how pervasive the 7 deadly sins are in our lives. I've been more aware of how I personally deal with these.
- How easy it is to disregard the slippery slope of sin. All the little nuances of sin and how it draws us deeper into sin. I also liked the lively virtues as weapons against sin.
- The presentation stretched my knowledge of the sins and virtues. Our group discussions were very good.

Science, Science Everywhere!

By Kelsey Sabatino

The science sector of education is taking its time to shine at New Ulm Area Catholic Schools. Not only are students in the high school participating in the science fair, but students in the upper grades of St. Anthony Elementary are participating as well. Twenty-three students at CHS participated in the Regional Science Fair held at Minnesota State University, Mankato, on Saturday, February 20, 2016. Out of the twenty-three students, ten won purple ribbons which include a trip to the State Science Fair which will be held in Bloomington on April 3-5, 2016. Additional students won blue ribbons, making them eligible to go to the State Science Fair if purple ribbon winners from other schools decline the opportunity to go.

Students in grades 3-6 participated in a school science fair held on Tuesday, February 23. Although it was required for students in grades 5-6, a handful of students in grades 3-4 also stepped up to the challenge of doing a science experiment, creating the display board, and presenting their project to the judges. The students in Mrs. Janssen's senior anatomy class and junior chemistry class came to judge the St. Anthony Elementary students on their projects, making it a great learning opportunity for all ages. St. Anthony students practiced designing science fair projects and presenting in front of judges; and the CHS students learned how to be fair judges.

Sam Guldan

Sam Guldan, a sophomore at Cathedral High School, blew the judges away at the Regional Science Fair with her project titled, "Soil Amendment Optimization Phase III: Nutrient Analysis of Biochar & Hydrophilic Polymer Enriched Soils in a Stimulated Large-Scale Agriculture Environment." This project earned her a trip to the Minnesota State Science Fair, but also two additional trips to elite science fairs – Intel International Science and Engineering Fair (Intel ISEF) and International Sustainable World (Energy, Engineering, and Environment) Project (I-SWEEEP). Intel ISEF is the world's largest international pre-college science competition with approximately 1,700 high school students participating from over 75 countries, regions, and territories. This competition is judged by doctoral level scientists where over $4 million worth of prizes are awarded. I-SWEEEP is a science fair geared towards global sustainability. The students who come to this fair are encouraged to be collaborative, yet competitive as they present their innovative ideas about energy, engineering, and the environment. Congratulations, Sam, on being awarded these amazing opportunities!

Science is an exciting part of the school day that is quickly picking up steam.

Congratulations to all NUACS students on your hard work and accomplishments!

Many Lives Are Touched During Honduras Trip

Dear Holy Cross AFC,

Thank you very much for your overwhelming generosity and wonderful support of my mission trip to Honduras! Nine seminarians, two priests and I, all from Saint John Vianney Seminary, and the children from the orphanage that we visited benefitted greatly from your generosity. I'd like to tell you a little about the trip.

The eleven of us got a full experience of poverty. We were transported from the airport to the orphanage in a skeleton-of-a-twelve-passenger van with our luggage uncovered in a pick-up truck. Our living quarters were meager at best. We were without water one day, electricity the next, and malfunctioning doors throughout. Though there were few mosquitoes, I found a cockroach crawling on my dishes one morning. Every meal was rice, beans, and a tortilla. On the lucky days, we got a fried egg or a small piece of chicken.

We spent our days working and playing. In the mornings we worked in the garden, on the farm, in the kitchen or in the surgery center. Afternoons were spent playing soccer with the kids. In the evenings, we had prayer time and Mass. Then we went to the hogars (the living quarters) for supper with the kids.

Despite their poverty, work and study, the people were very happy. They were very patient with those of us who spoke little to no Spanish, helping us learn by correcting our mistakes and repeating what we did not understand. The people were very generous, sharing everything amongst themselves and with us, and were very welcoming. They spoke, played, worked, joked, and hung out with us. I definitely felt that they liked having us there with them, even though we were complete strangers and understood only most of what they said.

Kevin, seventeen, worked in the garden. He was a hard worker and was very kind to us. He was very open and accepting of us with our broken conversations. I was very impressed by him. Oldest of three boys, he showed great care for his brothers and was a good guardian to them. He hopes one day to start his own garden when he graduates from the university.

Osman, thirteen, worked on the farm. He also was very open with us and showed us around the farm and how to collect eggs and clean pens. He liked to joke around with us wherever he saw us. He wants to be a police officer when he grows up. When we told him that we were leaving at seven in the morning to go back home, he came at 6:30 to say goodbye to us. We later found out that everyone else usually gets up at 8:00.

Many of the kids asked how soon we were coming back. They wouldn't accept "soon" or "I'm not sure" for an answer. I do not know and cannot say how many lives we touched. But I am hopeful that we gave everyone we met a smile and an affirmation of their dignity as a child of God.

Sincerely and in gratitude,
John Hayes

Update on Cathedral Organ Project

By Nathan Knutson

JF Nordlie Pipe Organ Company sent preliminary drawings of the case design in early February. The wood chosen for the case will be a beautiful quarter-sawn white oak, stained to blend in with the Cathedral's woodwork, while also standing out as an individual element.

The wind reservoirs are finished and several workers have been busy cutting keys and making various small parts. Lumber arrived in the Sioux Falls shop this past week for the console surround and wind chests.

The master woodcarver is busy planning curved basswood pipe shades and other ornate elements for the organ case. He has been awarded many awards for his woodcarving, with a particular interest in traditional Norwegian carving.

It is exciting to witness this project, a new adventure, but also a restoration and beautification of what has come before. The previous instrument, particularly its numerous German-crafted pipework, now affords us a wonderful opportunity to enhance this work. The existing pipework has been fully restored and re-polished at a pipe-shop in Ohio, and will soon be shipped to Sioux Falls. Along with about 9 new sounds, the three-manual organ will be a much more useful instrument for choral and congregational singing, concerts, and all liturgical events.

For more information and regularly updated progress photos, visit: dnu.org/cathedral-organ

Holy Father's Prayer Intentions

Each month Pope Francis urges Christians throughout the world to unite in prayer. We join our Holy Father in praying for these intentions:

March, 2016
- Universal: That those involved in scientific research may serve the well-being of the whole human person.
- Evangelization: That the unique contribution of women to the life of the Church may be recognized always.

April, 2016
- Universal: That people may learn to respect creation and care for it as a gift of God.
- Evangelization: That persecuted Christians may feel the consoling presence of the Risen Lord and the solidarity of all the Church.

May, 2016
- Universal: That, in rejecting the culture of indifference, we may care for our neighbors who suffer, especially the sick and the poor.
- Evangelization: That Mary's intercession may help Christians in secularized cultures be ready to proclaim Jesus.

June, 2016
- Universal: That immigrants and refugees may find welcome and respect in the countries to which they come.
- Evangelization: That the personal encounter with Jesus may arouse in many young people the desire to offer their own lives in priesthood or consecrated life.
