

OMORIKA

Omorika is a very transitional shawl for the period in my life that it was designed. The design reflects that, with an Escher-inspired design as the first element, and a rigid, asymmetrical garter stitch design on the bottom. A beautiful, twisting border and spine finish this shawl off, and give it the right touch of elegance while not overwhelming the geometry of the design. Coupled with a soft yarn, this shawl is the perfect pattern to toss over your shoulders for an evening out, or an afternoon in.

Right Edging Set Up:

1. K3, YO, K1, turn.
2. S1 purlwise, P1, K3.

Repeat rows 1 and 2 until you have added 9 stitches (13 stitches for edging to be worked back and forth).

1. Work Right Edging Chart. Turn
2. S1 purllwise, P to last three, K3.

Continue in pattern until you have knit all the right side stitches up to, but not including, the centre stitch of the Centre Spine Chart. Break yarn, leaving a long tail to weave in later.

1. Attach yarn to far left edge of shawl. K3, YO, P1. Turn
2. S1 purlwise, K 4.

1. K3, P9, P2tog.
2. Work Row 2 of Left Edging Chart.

Now here's where things get funny, and you will need to use your sense as a knitter.

1. Attach yarn at right edge, RS facing you. Work Right Edging chart in pattern to last stitch, S2K1PSSO, work Left Edging Chart in pattern.
2. K3, purl across, K3.

Continue in this fashion until you have knit those centre three together enough times that all the pattern stitches are gone (only the centre stitch and the six edging stitches remain). You may have to stop knitting in pattern sooner rather than later, and your edges may not match. Rest assured that as long as you are decreasing one stitch from either edge as you go, this part will turn out okay.

1. K2, S2K1PSSO, K2, turn.
2. K all.
3. K1, S2K1PSSO, K1, turn.
4. Bind off.

Soak in warm water and block firmly. Allow to air dry. Weave in all ends. Wear. Enjoy.
